

The Fox under the Hill, Denmark Hill

Date

1925

Primary Maker

William Keddie Forrester

Medium

Oil on canvas

Description

The Fox was in existence at least 200 years ago and was once known as Little Denmark Hall. The tavern became a Sunday destination for visitors from London in the nineteenth century, but was demolished during the 1960s. As a replacement, a newer establishment of the same name was opened higher up the hill towards Dulwich, at the junction of Champion Hill and Denmark Hill. This painting was exhibited in the South East London Group Exhibition in 1956 from where it was purchased for the Southwark Art Collection.

Dimensions

Object/Work: 310 x 380 mm