

Basic Detail Report

Unguentarium

Date

1870

Medium

Glass

Description

Greenish sherd consisting of a long slender cylindrical neck and rim. Found on Martin le Grand in 1870. An unguentarium is a glass or ceramic vessel, usually without handles, designed for storing a wide variety of things ranging from scented oils to medicines. They are often associated with Roman funerary practices, and are found in Roman graves with a degree of regularity.

Dimensions

Object/Work: 53 x 23 mm