

Figure

Date

200-250

Medium

Sandstone

Description

Statue of a genius, a Graeco-Roman god personifying the spirit of a locality. The figure wears a toga and carries a cornucopia. It once stood on an altar over which it poured libation. The altar, head, arms and legs are missing.

Found in a Roman well during excavations under Southwark Cathedral in 1977.

Dimensions

Object/Work: 290 x 180 x 130 mm