

Basic Detail Report

Urinal

Date

1700 - 1799

Medium

Glass

Description

Urinal of colourless blown glass. It has a globular body, horizontal cone-like neck, and a flattened base. Urinals were used by physicians to examine the urine of a patient. This practice of diagnosing by urine lead doctors to be nicknamed 'Piss-pots'.

Dimensions

Object/Work: 178 x 113 mm Object/Work: 90 x 65 mm

(neck)