

Surgical Instrument

Date

1820

Medium

Wood, steel

Description

Surgical drill or "trephine" for drilling disks of bone from the skull to treat headaches, skull fractures and mental disorders. The process is usually known as "trepanning". It has a wooden handle, and metal drill bit with sharp teeth.

Dimensions

Object/Work: 123 x 88 x 22 mm